Fragrant GWEN Early

THE FLORIST'S FAVORITE IN CUT FLOWERS

It's one of those colors that when massed together is rich and beautiful. As a cut flower producer, it is tops. A variety that is consistently tall and stretchy. No short stems in this variety, and that is really important. Bulblets consistently throw spikes three to four feet high when color seldom shows in 75% of the other varieties we grow. GWEN will be a "must-have" for those interested in cut flowers. Better get a start with small bulbs or bulblets.

Scotch All-Season

No. 11B—Many gardeners don't care about names but like a good range of color over a long season. This mixture is offered to fill just that purpose. The larger the bulb the earlier it will bloom and then some varieties bloom in 65 days and others take a hundred. We have blended together early and late varieties as well as several different sizes of bulbs, which will vary the blooming season of individual varieties. All varieties will be of large blooming types, no miniatures and I'm sure will meet the approval of the most critical gardener.

STRAWBERRIES

The spice of Good Living
New York State Grown, freshly dug golden rooted plants

CATSKILL. A variety that thrives in all soils. Large, midseason variety suitable for home and market. Plants are vigorous.

DORSETT. A universal standard variety. Color is bright red and a large berry. Flavor is superior, sweet as honey. Crop ripens all at once and is out of the way.

FAIRFAX. Midseason. Flavor is much the same as Dorsett except that it may be even sweeter when dead ripe. Berry is nearly round and glistening deep red.

PREMIER. An old standard and probably the heaviest producer of all Strawberries. Makes a fine fruiting bed but the plants are smaller than most other varieties.

SPARKLE. Late. Recommended by New York State Experimental Station especially for freezing. A new variety, has a fine flavor.

SEPTEMBER, Everbearing Raspberry

A Revelation in Fruit Varieties

It completely outclasses any other Everbearing Raspberry ever produced. Produces fruit in 90 days after planting. The fruit is medium large in the spring and extremely large in the fall, delicately flavored with a taste somewhat like the Cuthbert Raspberry and a clear medium red in color.

It's fully two weeks earlier than other June bearing varieties, making it very valuable as a market berry. The September crop will be even heavier and continue to ripen fruit until heavy frost. Berries are firm, do not crumble and they freeze excellently.
